

ABSTRACT

A conjugate which comprises fine porous particles (on which functional substance may be adhered) and a polymer based on water-soluble high molecular chain segment, and the use of the conjugate (for the purpose of stably supporting, or slowly releasing, a physiologically active substance, or the like).